only because they wanted the man so badly that they were prepared to cutbid all their rivals, even if they went broke in the process. It's naive to think that the English, Italian, Spanish and other Federations would not have tried to find a foolproof way of curbing these unrealistic transfer fees. They have. But then they realised that it just can't be done. This is a matter for the clube themselves who have to draw the line which they wen't exceed. It's not impossible to protect clubs from their own irresponsibility or temporary insentity through legislation; these who coverspend will go to the well, just as in any other business.

However, I could be wrong; the PSL executive could be a great deal smarter than we think.

Should they succeed in limiting transfer fees and then making the rule stick, I suggest they turn their steening to the Australian and to find; the PSL is like an abandoned child.

The ASF has the power to control it - but dosan't run it. The PSL axecutive, appread over soveral cities, tries to run it by proxy, mainly vis the telephone. The PSL secretariat has been reduced to a clerical office staffed by two people, without power.

That leaves the 16 clube, most of which are so absorbed in their own internal problems that they cannot spare much thought for the apper-structure.

In his present shape, the PSL is destined to fall. Not because the aliended to fall. Not because the affection, common purpose and a clear policy, it is an all not competition with hary guidelines, run with rash, often emotional and irrational inspitude.

Metro wants visa players, Mordialloc dispute resolved

CENTRAL BRUNSWICK

The Metropolitan League board of management has averted the possibility of confrontation with the VSF board of management by cancelling the extraordinary general meeting called by the Metro board for February 24.

Many Metro clubs are up in arms over Provisional League clubs being upgraded to Metro

One of the crucial points on the agenda for the extra-ordinary meeting was the Mor-dialloc affair.

Mordialloc played in the Third Division of the Provis-ional League last season, merged with South Melbourne Hellas in the off-season and now finds itself in Metro Second Division, a jump of five Initially the Metro board objected to Mordialloe's sudden rise, claiming that the club "bought" Its way into higher company. The board planned to declare Hellae's Metro position vacent and promote the third-placed club in the lower league.

"Morfailloc simply merged with Heilas. There's nothing il-legal about that, said John Hotson, chairman of the Metro board. "Had we been able to prove that there was any maj-practice, such as money changing hands, then it would have been a different matter but the whole question of Mor-dialloc's status has been recondialloc's status has been resol-ved. The club will play in Metro Second Division this Hotson also revealed the details of a resolution before the VSF board which calls for any future league increases to be put in resolution form at the annual general meeting of the VSF. This would do away with such sweeping changes being decided solely by the VSF board.

The question of opening up the leagues to temporary resi-dents could be resolved at an ASF executive meeting ten-tatively set for the first week in March.

Hotson and VSF chairman Michael Weinstein are Victor-ia's representatives at ASF level.

"At our last ASF executive meeting before Christmas we discussed the situation of tem-porary visa players. Our next meeting should involve propositions from the States on this matter and I'm hopeful that the ASF executive will permit such visa players to play in any league of their choice. The present policy discriminates against such players," said Hotson.

Hotson still is getting over e shock of the league rest-

"The turmoil at State League level has been trans-ferred to the Metro leagues.

"I couldn't believe the sud-denness at which the whole thing was done.

"I feel sorry for some of the Metro clubs. Some of our oldest member clubs have missed out on going up.

"But I understand the need for uniformity throughout the Victorian leagues and although we wanted to adopt the changes next year the fact that clubs could play throughout 1982 without fear of relegation would certainly take something out of the competitive spirit we try to engender.

"I'd like to see one management committee for soccer in Victoria. There seems no need for individual leagues to have management committees. Why have a Metro board of management when its recommendations aren't even heard at higher level in some instances?

"Anyway it's all over now. Let's just get down to sticking together and doing the best we can. Let's get the league pro-gram underway."

The Metro and Provisional Leagues probably will kick-off on Saturday, March 20, two weeks before the previous kick-off date, and posed end to the previous description of the previous description of the new leagues beason, four more games than before when leagues were based upon 12 teams.

Altona City chairman John Collins claims that his club has been "stabbed in the back".

Who is punished for the totally confused promotion and relegation set-up in the PSL?

Soccer has only itself to blame for its many prob-lems and its confused ad-ministration.

I remember the time when it was more or less agreed that there should be some form of protection for coaches. That too has apparently gone out the window. I am currently in dispute with a club over contractural terms, yet neither the ASF nor the PSL wants to discuss it. We're referring here to a about what makes Australia unique in the world of soccer is that on any given weekend we have more players playing the games than watching it. One of the main reasons is that professionals, amateurs, juniors in all grades all play at the same time. How can that possibly be progressive? How, for example, can the kids come to see their heroes in senior soccer?

What we need is a clean sweep throughout the soccer administration. We should look to men like Sam Papasavas who has put South Melbourne Hellas on a firmer footing than it ever has been in its glorious history, and to the example set by New Zealand's World Cup director Charlie Dempsey whose shrewdness and progressive thinking played no small part in the Kiwis' World Cup qualification.

politics change

VSF chairman and ASF vice-president Michael Weinstein was the principal actor in the Soccer House scenario which led to last week's revolutionary restructuring of the Victorian leagues.

In something akin to a Papal edict, Weinstein presented an oral submission to the VSF board of management, outlining the formula for change which takes the magic figure of 14 as the norm on which league sizes are based.

Weinstein admits that decisions on the league status of so many clubs were reached in an arbitrary fashion but claims that magic formulae for such far-reaching decisions were impractical.

impractical. He adds that the revolutionary restructuring merely came a year ahead of schedule, prompted by the VSF facing a no-win situation in possible legal battles.

facing a no-win situation in possible legal battles.

Juventus and Ringwood then, have been the catalysts for major change.

The Brian Sinclair affair caused Ringwood to lose points accrued during last season, saving previously-relegated Juventus and plunging Ringwood down to second-last sport on the league ladder.

Ringwood appealed against the tribunal decision that Sinclair was an ineligible player on grounds of residency qualifications. That appeal now is spurious. Had it been heard and been upheld, Juventus would have taken Supreme Court action against the federation. Likewise with Ringwood had its appeal been dismissed. Ringwood backed by other

Then chairman Weinstein outlined the format for the restructuring of the Metro leagues into four, 14-team divisions and which clubs should the sound with the sound with the sound was paramount. To this end, the Metro leagues — indeed all victorian leagues — should fall into line with the 14-team State League.

The Metro board of management favored such an increase but wanted to adopt it in 1883. Weinstein rightly argued that Metro competition would suffer this season if every club knew that there would be no relegation due to the planned 1883 restructuring. He also favored immediate restructuring rather than allowing Metro clubs a year in which to lobby for a favorable change of status for the following year.

Weinstein believed that the membership of the Metro allow eight new clubs into Fourth Division. He believes that there are many progressive, successful clubs in lower leagues shalt can do credit to the Metro clause and the sound the sound to redit to the Metro fourth Division. until they win their way into Fourth Division.

The big reshuffle was underway. Thomastown up from Provisional First Division to Metro Third, North Geelong from Provisional Second Division to Metro Fourth, Bell Park from Metro Second Division to First.

The rationale behind the move is to give progressive clubs a chance to stake a claim for State League status earlier than would have been possible that the common method of promotion been adhered to. The definition of the term "progressive" was made by one man but ratified by many men — the members of the full board of management of the VSF.

The board of management of the VSF remains as the executive body of soccer in Victoria. The boards of management of the State League, Metro Leagues, as in the past, can realise policies only by tabling resolutions before the VSF board, which has the power of veto over such resolutions.

The new State League could pose problems for the VSF board.

I estimate that the European contingent has an 8-6 advantage over the British bloc at State League level, yet the British bloc rules at board

The landmark restructuring has thrown soccer into turmoil at administrative level. That's to be expected, though Teething problems always have to be overcome.

The grounds and fixtures committee has to return to its drawing board and re-map the 1982 season.

The rules concerning the classification of grounds may have to be bent. First Division clubs must have at least class B grounds and facilities.

The financial gain for the VSF is more than a mere incidental bonus.

Affiliation fees for State League clubs are $1200 this year. Metro First Divison clubs pay $800, Second Divi-sion $700, Third Division $800, Fourth Division $500 and all Provisional League clubs will pay $400.

The thrust of the restructuring revolution has been to streamline the Victorian leagues. If this results in fiercer competition then the code will benefit greatly in years to come.

CANCEROUS ME

It is two weeks since Victoria's 0-2 loss to Hungery. In this time I have had the opportunity to listen, read or watch comment from nearly all our soccer media about the game, the players, the coach, the praparation and the tactics.

I think maybe some comment from the inside is called for.
From nearly every source, the State team and its set-up was criticised about the Hungary game. Personally, I feel a lot of this criticism is unjustified.

int of this criticism is unjustified.

Since Len McKendry took over the ocaching of the State team some three years ago we expected to the state team some three years ago we every visiting couch as the most disciplined, and most organised, team that they have played here.

Such comments also came from the Hungarian coach after last week's game.

It is no coincidence that the results that followed started with Len's introduction to the coaching position.

GARY COLE

He is a very competitive man who badly needs to win. Of course to do this he has had to devise ways of coaching part-time players so that they can take on some of the World's best fulltimers and perform equally if no better. When 1 first entered the State team set-up as a young-ster in 1975, Victoria has some great players who went out and gave their all against touring sides. Sometimes they lost heavily, sometimes they lost heavily, sometimes and hard-fought draw and occasionally a win, more through hard work and determination than any real game plan.

The most noticeable thing to me was the amount of possession that touring sides had. So often Victoria would give the ball away and have great difficulty in getting it back.

Len designed a method of play by which Victoria would keep hold of the ball and try to construct chances through set methods of play.

Then he picked a squad he thought could be moulded to do the job, every playing knowing exactly what was expected of him all over the park.

Then the picked a squad he produced a State squad that Victoria — even the media — was proud of.

The V.S.F. allowed more time for preparation — it went from weeks to months — and her esults started coming.

Then came the Hungary game. The squad assembled on the Tuesday before the game and trained at Olympic Park.

On Thursday night we trained at Dendy Park, Brighton, with Hellas needed its players for the game against Volyodina It was not exactly an ideal preparation.

So out we went on the Friday and after an early set-ration.

So out we went on the Friday and after an early set-back we had a great deal of the play in the first half.
The pace of the Hungarians was incredible, but the pressure of the Vic team was superb.

superb.
Hungary made three sub-stitutions and scored a second time, with Victoria missing a couple of chances late in the game. Not a bad performance for a rush job!

But it was Victoria's worst defeat for three years. This was too good an opportunity to miss. The knives came out in force. Sack McKendry, sack the players etc. etc.

the players etc. etc.
Probably the biggest criticism was that there were nine Heidelberg player the the beautiful probable of the beautiful probable

It would not have been fair on the players involved, it would have caused much con-fusion on the park and prob-ably led to a much bigger loss.

The pride and determination The pride and determination of the players involved in the Hungary game was second to none and I feel their efforts deserve more than the garbage that was served up after the game.

I only hope that the V.S.F. continues to bring top quality touring teams here to Victoria and that they allow more than a week's preparation.

Lastly, I hope that the media here start to sell the game of soccer rather than destroy it by picking it to pie-

If the game is going to grow in this country it must get the best publicity possible and not the cancerous meanderings of some of our media.

Any questions?

Both sides were content to sit on the ball. The heat had taken its full toll.

The only flash of temper came early in the game when Alan Niven and Brennan were shown the yellow card for niggling each other.

Newcomer Gary Byrne's kick was headed on by Tony Brennan and brought down by Walter Valeri who shot for goal. This attempt was charged down only to see the ball role to lan Gibson's feet where, from a mere three yards out, he was able to side-foot into an empty net. The best summation is that it was typical first match soccer. Coaches would have learned much and both sides will most definitely improve.

 CONT. FROM PAGE 5 Another Frankston recruit, Paul Drinozcky, made his debut against Polonia last Saturday. Frankston paid $2,500 for Drinozcky from Metro Second Division club Melbourne.

Pery Foster, a 19 year old striker from Tasmanian club Bright on ICL, has done well in practice matches with the Baysiders and should sign shortly.

Polonia was without Alex Marshall, who simply didn't turn up. Apparently he got lost in transit to Centenary Park. And Mirek Smolarek just received his permanent residency but couldn't be registered in time. Peter Czapnik was unavailable through illness.

Yet Polonia looked the slicker outfit even though some of its players lacked the commitment of Frankston's youngers.

John Wallace ruled the roost in midfield. Twice he sent Brendan Lakic through but the tigerish striker failed to finish. Frankston's best was graham Tutill who revelled in his new-found role as sweeper.

BLANCO'S BACK

Blanco himself is delighted to receive the unexpected char-lenge.

"It is great to be back with a big club with such a tradition. I am grateful for the confidence they have shown in me," he said. It is the second time that Blanco has bounced back since those earlier disasters.

He was appointed assistant to National Youth Coach Les Scheinflug last October for the World Youth Championship finals.

In a shock move Sydney City Soccer Club announced the appointment of Raul Blanco as assistant coach to Eddle Thomson.

The likeable Blanco had two horror years when he failed to last out the 1980 seson as St George coach and repeated his unhappy experience with Marconi last season.

On the other hand the Sydney Slickers have topped the Philips Soccer League no less than three times in its five year existence. However club officials were on Blanco's doorstep last Sunday immediately after he returned from a family and football study trip to his native Argentina.

"We believe that Raul is the very man to bring our outstanding youth players through to the senior side," Slickers' secretary David Childs said.

Blanco himself is delighted to receive the unexpected challenge.

Rarely has a game opened with such a bang only to finish with such a whimper — and if Preston had any strike force at all they would have begun the season with a victory.

Barely 60 seconds had elap-sed before Doug Brown crashed the ball against the upright and only another 60 seconds passed to find the ball in the back of the Preston net.

Ian Souness fed a superb pin-point 40-metre pass down the right to Kevin Mullen on the overlap and he brushed aside a tackle to push a low ball into the middle for Ian Bruce to sweep home from close range.

So all looked promising for the champions of the past two years. Pushing forward with confidence, although not always with the flair of pre-vious years, Sydney City left Preston with their hands full.

Murray Barnes cracked one over the top after nine minutes and John Spanos was unlucky as he stumbled under pressure to put a chance past the post in the 16th minute.

Barnes was left with only Richard Wilson to beat in the 18th minute but was too slow to get his shot in. The ball was scrambled away, put back into the penalty area and Souness was brought down by Ljube Petrovski.

From the spot Souness half hit the ball for the bottom right-hand corner but Wilson had guessed correctly and pushed the ball away.

Suddenly it was a new game as Preston settled down and began to build from the back with sensible short passes and use of the width of the pitch.

But it all fell down at the edge of the penalty area. With no target man and an unwillingness to take a man on in an attacking situation Preston floundered around without opening spaces and rarely with a man running off the ball.

MATCH RATING 7

From the start there was no real doubt as to which side was going to win. APIA started much better and in general play they were nearly always half a metre quicker. This was particularly evident when you watch the tired legs of one Roberto Vieri.

For almost all the first half, APIA-Leichhardt were camped in Marconi's territ-ory. Most of the Marconi side seemed quite content with this and left most of the defending to Tony Henderson.

Actually Henderson was quite superb particularly in his clashes with the dynamic Soper. This was undoubtedly the highlight of the match and I'm sure you would get every spectator back tomorrow if you could guarantee them a repeat performance.

One pressure finally told in the 41st minute. Soper had Just laid one on for McBreen with the shot just being pushed over the bar. Off the ensuing corner Butler crossed to the far post where McBreen made no mistake with his second chance in 30 seconds.

Leichhardt put the result beyond doubt seven minutes from the finish. Sebastian Giampaolo was put into the clear by John Bradley. Giam-paolo cooly ran around the stranded Maher and made, it 2-0.

classic moves of the match was contrived by Jim Campbell who gained possession on Heidelberg's right. Campbell cut inside and passed to Paton whose first time lay-off sent the ball into Campbell's path. Still in full flow, Campbell switched play to Jimmy Rooney who had snuck up near the left edge of the Hellas area. Rooney curled the ball at far post as the unmarked Cole charged in Cole tried to make up the vital yards in order to connect with the ball as it hit the ground and at the last minute stretched forward and shot, missing the inside of the mear post by centimetres.

Contrast the keynote of Ampol Cup final

TIM WHITE Victorian coaching director

I overheard recently a conversation concerning the scoring of goals whilst watching a game at Olympic

The question was raised as to why goals are scored and the inevitable answer was given in one word — mistakes. I suppose this is true, but then how far back in the game does one go to pinpoint the mistake.

There are basically five reasons by goals are scored and generally it is one of these reasons or a combiantion of them which causes the goal:

1. Lack of pressure on the man on the ball.

2. Lack of support for player challenging the man on the ball.

3. Failure of track down players.

4. Giving the ball away.

5. Set plays (free kicks, corners etc).

5. Set plays (free kicks, corners etc).

The contrasting styles of Heldelberg and 5th Melbourne Hellas were one of the main features in an exciting Ampol Cup final last week. Heidelberg used a system of marking zones of the pitch wheress 5th Melbourne adopted a system of marking individual opponents. Heidelberg players generally covered areas of the pitch whereby 5th Melbourne players were designated to particular members of the opposition.

As a result Jim Shirra, who lined up at left back for Hellas adopted the sweeper role as his fellow defenders marked individuals.

This pattern also was adopted by Hellas in midfield and because of this, it was particularly noticeable that Grant Turner, who has been used in recent weeks in the middle of the midfield, As a result the defensive line ended up looking like this:

LAUMETS (SM) SHIRRA (SM)

XANTHOPOULOS (SM) JONES (SM)

DAVIDSON (SM) ROONEY (H)

WOODDIN (SM) YANKOS(H)

COLE(H) STEVENSON (SM) TAYLOR (H)

EVANS (SM) MACLEOD (H) YZENDOORN (H)

NICOLAIDES (SM) CAMPBELL (H) TURNER (SM)

SELEMIDES (H) BULJEVIC (SM) McMILLAN (H)

Defensively Sth Melbourne generally stuck rigidly to its man marking role whilst Heldelberg was prepared to pass players over as it changed areas of the field.

With these defensive roles ensured, when the team had the ball, it was possible to use that cover to help build up effective attacking movements.

The end result was a fascinating struggle between a disciplined and well organised Heldelberg defence and a Hellas defence which stuck rigidly to its task. Unfortunately from Sth Melbourne's point of view, I felt this man marking was a bit foreign to some of the players, particularly John Stevenson and Turner.

The end result was a rascinating struggie evenes in useryment and war in Sth Melbourne's point of view, I felt this man marking was a bit foreign to some of the players, particularly John Stevenson and Turner.

Since both defences were highly organised improvisation and understanding among attackers became the key factors in creating goal scoring chances. The latter will be achieved more effectively if work on this is done on training nights.

Heldeberg's attackers showed better understanding of each others play and, as a result of players being prepared to make unserlish runs to daw defenders away and create space for ellow attackers, they created more chances than their opponents.

Sth Melbourne's attack on the other hand, relied on the individual flair of its front runners who appeared to lack an understanding of each other of the players. Why then did Hellas win't let's book or let'll yet the goals scored and see if they coincide with my five reasons for way goal or was most definitely the result of lack of pressure on the man with the ball as I'm sure kenny must have been surprised at the time given to him to set himself up for the final shot.

Goal No. 2 (the equaliser) came from a penalty following a free kick into the penalty area. Goal No. 2 again came from a 5th Melbourne free kick with the Heideberg defence guitty of falling to track down the elusive Charile Egan.

So set pieces played a vital role in this game. Don Macleod's over eagerness in the challenge, turned out to be Heidelberg effects glownfall. Macleod played well on the seasoned Alun Evans but both Sth Melbourne's goals came from Tes kicks given away by him, each time on Evans. However I must say I am annazed at times at the way in which Evans, by using his professional guile can 'con' referees and win free kicks for his team in dangerous situations.

However the game was an exciting affair and perhaps it was very fitting that it was not decided by penalty kicks.

Letec, Glenorchy's general

Watching Frank Letec, 36, of Glenorchy-Croatia make a superb out-side-of-the-foot pass to send his winger away in a preseason friendly recently, made me realise why the Zagrob-born veteran used to be nicknamed 'Kalser' and the 'General' at the peak of his career.

Everyone now is waiting to see whether Letec will play this season. "If I really have time, I know I can make myself fit, I known I can still be a very valuable squad member and I have not lost my love of the game," says Letec. love of the game, "says Letec.

Always the soccer purist, he's a little disappointed with the present standards and be-lieves the game "has lost its shine".

The goal Letec remembers above all others was his equalizer 30 seconds from the end of a cup final in 1979. "The cheque had already been signed and made out to our opponents. We went on to win 3—2 in extra—time".

Now, in the extra—time of his playing career, Glen-orchy-Croatia fans are waiting to see whether Letec, 'the General', will once again take the field with their 'army' for the season's battles.

I have a feeling that Hayes may be right. If he manages some of the intricate, jinking runs that he is famous for, this time in the cause of South Hobart, it will be opponents as well as spectators who will be surprised this season.

Worse was to follow and the Racing Club (Argentina) v Glasgow Celtic debacie of 1967 still ranks among the most in-famous chapters in the game's annals.

famous chapters in the game's annals.

The first leg in Glasgow, which resulted in a 1-0 win to Celtic, proved relatively incident-free and gave little indication of what was to follow. As the two teams were warming up prior to kick-off or the second game in Buenos Aires, a spectator threw a stone which laid out Scottish goalkeeper Ronnie Simpson, who was stretched off severely concussed, not to take any further part in the tie.

Faced with a 80,000 crowd haying for its blood, a Racing team intent on victory at any cost and an enigmatic refere, the weakened Celtic was really up against:

Strikers Ian Wallace and Justin Fashhnu, who cost former European champion Nottingham Forest more than two million sterling (3.6 million Aust dollars), were put up for sale last week.

Wallace joined Forest from Coventry in 1980 for 1,25 million sterling (2.09 million Aust dollars) while Fashanu was priced at one million sterling (1.7 million, Aust dollars) when he moved from Norwich last year.

Peter Taylor, Forest's as-sistant manager, said: "We have started losing matches recently and what we have done will, we feel, benefit the club in the long term."

Forest, European-champion in 1979 and 1980, is lying 11th in the 22-team-First Division.

PLAYED EIGHT — won eight, goal tally 33-3 — that is the incredible record of West Germany's national tasm in their World Cup qualifying group. It is without parallel in any European section. Poland also won all her matches, but they only played four.

Thus, the Germans kept their amazing world record for at least another four years they have not yet lost a World Cup qualifying tie since they first started taking part in 1934. They played 30 matches, winning 72, drawing 3 and amassed the goals tally of 110-18!

Team mhanger, Jupp Derwall, was well satisfied with the last two performances within four days. The 8-0 win over Albania in Dortmund was followed by a 4-0 thrashing of Bulgaria in Dusseldorf. A major role, too, was played by his team-mate Paul Bretlner. His promptings and vision, acceleration and finishing were of the highest order.

The West German Football Federation (DFB) claims to be the largest in the world. At the last count, it boasted 44 million registered players and 125,000 teams. The number of clubs has risen since the last survey by 374 to reach 18.887, while the total membership increased by 81,375 to 4,402,679. Of the teams, 24,526 embraced 14 to 18 year olds, 44,343 are schoolboys teams (up to 14 years).

Unlike in England and Italy, in West Germany a junior can only sign professional forms when he is 18 years old. Hence you don't see any 17-year-olds in the Bundesliga, except as apprentices. In addition, the youngsters must complete the compulsory national service, which lasts 15 months.

during the first half.
Mhajlovic, then Rokodera, came close to scoring and Yugal generally looked the team likely to score first until that first Canterbury goal. A long floating corner kick from the left was neatly headed back into the area by Ross Brown and Arnold had only to poke his toe at the ball to make it 1-0.

Following that goal Canterbury started to look more aggressive and as half time approached looked the far better team. Close to had time. Yugal defender Stenning made a daring dash out of his area and was dispossessed by Thamnides to pave the way for Arnolds' second goal.

Basterfield scored with a great header towards the end to send Yugal to their second successive defeat in the Cup, but despite this defeat I feel that Yugal is far from a fourgoals worse side than Canterbury. They have some fine players and should surprise a few, come State League time.

St George survived some anxious moments before dis-posing of tenacious Auburn in this second round clash at St George Stadium. St George, still experimenting with their players, left the three O'Shea brothers out of the side and included the ageing Lerinc and Marton.

And while Marton continued his scoring form by hitting two past Bowman, Lerinc was dis-appointing and will have to do better to get into this St George side.

f but managed to miss from se range for both sides to go close range for both sides to go to the dressing rooms score-less. Des Marton scored Saints' first goal midway through the second half with the precision of a professional who is paid to do just that score goals.

Saints' coach, Frank Arok, decided then to put young Papas and Robert O'Shea on the park, replacing Skeen and Rylands, with no other purpose in mind but to experiment. They were leading by a mere goal but didn't look like losing despite some excellent effort throughout by Prgomelja, McDonald and Pondekas.

After the game Frank Arok admitted that he felt that the League competition is more important to him than the Cup and not as some have suggested that he has no interest in this competition. "We have to experiment." said Arok. "duted that he has no interest in his competition. Queensland Soccer Federation president, Alderman lan Brusasco, has called for the in-troduction of an "English style" system to stop a stream of overseas players flooding Australian soccer.

Australian soccer.

Brusasco said the Queensland Soccer Federation was "fully behind" him in his plans to foster Australian youth. He already had submitted details of his policy to the Australian Soccer Federation executive committee, of which he is a member.

Basically, Brusasco's plan is to phase out vias players in Australia within three to five years unless they are internationals or there are exceptional circumstances.

Britain has tightened up on work permits to stop overseas soccer players holding back its own players.

Already the new policy has had its first casualties with Australian soccer star George Christopoulous of South Melbourne Helias and New Zealand World Cup hero Wynton Rufer being refused work permits.

In fact, Marton popped in to notch his second goal with the same polished style as with the first and Auburn was well beaten.

"I cannot judge my team on their training run against the Arncliffe Police boys team," concluded Arok.

Polonia scored two quick goals almost following the kick-off, then went back into its shell, hoping to save the points. The game was a dour struggle which almost gave each side a point, but a miss at one end and a goal at the other in the dying seconds gave Po-lonia both Cup points.

It was speedy Dickson who swept past Wilmot and Couchman to score Polonlais' first in the fourth minute. Almost from the restart the ball went towards Bankstown's goal. Couchman attempted to push the ball back to the keeper but managed to beat him and Sookee was on the spot to run around Giffin and pot No. 2 into an empty net.

From then on Bankstown slowly took control of the game and looked the better side. Ironically it was another gift goal which brought about Bankstown's only success. Polonia's fullback Jirsa was on the sideline, holding possession and surrounded by the players. Suddenly he decided to fire one and crossed the ball into his own area, attempting to find the keeper, but instead finding the head of Bugja who netted easily.

WORKOUT FOR WEST, EASY WIN TO PORT

By MENO TOUTSIDIS

Alan Voet's now-look West Adelaide had a good workout against Beograd in a 1-1 draw in a Group 'B' Ampol Cup match at Hindmarsh Stadium.

The match, the first for both sides in the Ampol Cup, was tough and competitive.

Beograd matched its PSL opponent for much of the second half but in the end was lucky not to have succumbed as West threatened with an all-out attacking biltz.

Defender Tom Torsikas, captain Steve Sumner, Adrian Santrac and Graham Heys all were denied in a final flurry.

Vest, although looking for cup points, used the game as a dress rehearsal for last Sunday's game against Brisbane Llons.

He played Manchester City recruit Mick Brenana, Newcastle signing Heys and teenager Tim Brown in attack. But this combination did not perform effectively.

It seems that Brown will have to drop out for winger Jimmy Wright who has the skill and speed to spur West's attack.

Brenan had a useful game, sooring with a splendid volley late in the first half to put West ahead.

But he missed three easy headers which took some of the shine off his efforts.

Heys had an excellent game, particularly in the second half and will be a thorn in many PSL defences this season.

West played without two regulars — new Kiwi midfielder Alan Boath was in Auckland for NZ's international against Hungary, while lan McGregor was out and Manecas was out injured.

Meanwhile, in the early game, Port Adelaide opened up an early 30 lead and in the end cruised to a comfortable 42 win in its Group 'A' match.

The plan for Knox City's club extensions at Egan Lee Reserve

Victorian First Division club Knox announced plans for a $50,000 extension to its club rooms at Egan Lee Reserve at a plush luncheon last week.

The extensions will seat 200 people and the club plans to apply for a full liquor licence when building is completed at the end of the year.

To boost its on-field per-formance, Knox has appointed former Mooroolbark, Make-donia and Hellas coach Brian Edgley, with John Kennedy as his assistant and first-team goalkeeper.

It was pleasing to receive a call recently from Ray Brindle, the junior president of Ringwood United. Ray and his committee have made a concerted effort in the Ringwood area to recruity junior players and one of his aims is to make sure that every boy regardless of his lack of skill gets a game at least every two works.

He should be commended for this brave action. Too often clubs look to winning pennants at the expense of developing players and with pressure off the coach this also gives him time to work on boys' techniques.

Ray has gone further and has arranged a basic skills course for his junior coaches. With this kind of attitude Ringwood Utd should do well as a club this season.

With most of the regional trials getting under way, junior soccer is really getting ready for the 1982 season.

These trials are important as they provide the state coaches with the opportunity to watch boys who may become state representatives this year.

It is important that boys go along to these trials, for in the past some clubs seemed very reluctant to send their boys.

For details of these trials, boys and clubs can contact their regional co-ordinators: Mrs M. Kane (Central), Mrs H. Slack (Western), Mrs A. McPhee (Dandenong) Mrs P. Dillon (Peninsula) and Mrs T. Bateman (North).

During the recent Hungarian national team's visit it was good to see the Hungarian players and state director of coaching. Tim White, put on a coaching seminar for Junior players, but the most important aspect was the involvement of "Milo" in sponsoring it. I would like to thank the clubs who have invited the state U/15 team to participate in games.

Honduras helps El Salvador make the finals

By PETER SCOTT

Fifteen of the 22 nations which make up the membership of CONCACAF (Football Confederation of North and Central America, and the Carribean commenced the fight for its two spots at the World Cup finals in Spain. Six of these nations reached the play-offs and thought a last November, where home advantage saw the locals through in first place, with El Salvador joining them after murderous struggle for the second appt.

While Honduras is a newcomer on the world Cup finals scene, it's second time around for its neighbours, whose previous appearance was in 1970.

was in 1970.

Remember the time? That was when emo-tions reached a plateau which led to the mem-orable and tragic "football war" between the same two countre's fin 1981 it was Honduras which ensured their erstwhile enemies' parti-cipation in Spain by not sitting back on its laurels in the last match against perennial fa-verties Metric.

Honduras, already qualified for Spain, fought tooth and nail for a 0-0 draw, thus opening the way for El Salvador's qualification.

ing the way for El Salvador's qualification.

Reports from the Honduran capital Tegueisalpa were full of praise for the organisation and conduct of the six team play-offs. Huge crowds attended all the matches, which were full of surprises and upsets. Almost half a milion spectators paid to see the 15 matches, with receipts over the milliondollar mark. Proof of the evenness of standards is the fact that seven of the 15 gmes ended in a draw. Altogether 28 goals were scored, but, amazingly enough, El Salvador qualified for Spain with a combined scoreline of 2-1 from the five matches.

Mexico and Canada arrived as joint favorites, after disposing of the much touted and tipped USA team in the preliminaries, and the Mexicans did indeed have the best group of players on deck Outstanding striker Sanchez even has made his mark with Atletico Madrid in Europe and his style is reminiscent of Keegan when at his best — but on this occasion Sanchez could only contribute three goals.

Cuban coach Tibor Ivanics revealed that according to his informants Mexico spent one and a half million dollars on its World Cup campaign. Immediately prior to the tournament the Mexicans annihilated famed Uruguayan club Nacional 5-1 and swept the Cubans aside 40 in Round One of the Teguciaelae Ivurament.

However, this easy win did them more harm than good, as the perennial favorites suddenly thought the proceedings were to be a mere formality on the road to Spain.

Canada only fell by the wayside in its last fixture. Its team of physically outstanding players had to win by two goals against Cuba to qualify, but failed

Throughout the tournament the Canadians were running circles around most of their opponents, only to give away vital goals from ounter attacks.

With three successive wins against Haiti (4-0), Cuba (2-0) and Canada (2-1), Honduras had its berth booked long before the end of 'host hittes' in Tegucigalpa. Manager Chelato Herrera was praised for the excellent preparation of his squad, with good team work and unbounded enthusiasm typifying their performances.

unbounded enthusiasm typifying their per-formances.

As for Salvador, its 2-1 combined scoreline is revealing Goalkeeper Mora was out-standing and could turn a few heads in Spain, but the rest of the team was very ordinary, with only the midfielders performing in a manner which on occasion looked like modern soccer.
